Thank You from the Wyoming Historical Museum to everyone who volunteered to help with the recent pancake breakfast. We can't do it without you. In addition to the many locals who helped, we had helpers from Coralville, Anamosa, and Amber. "Celebrity" help came from Byron Freese of the Jones County Historical Society and Doug Edel of the Jones County Community Foundation.

From the Wyoming Journal – April 9, 1908:

"The waterworks gains patrons each year and ought soon to be self-supporting. Opera House also is gradually improving in the manner of rents. One of these days Wyoming will have its debts paid and be recovering revenues from both; and are by no means heavy. All of this is being accomplished without the aid of a saloon."

Looking Back: This item is from the March 14, 1918, Wyoming Journal . Its message is just as important today as it was then. We are fortunate to have the businesses we have and an extraordinary number of places to eat. Once we were glad to have one, and now we have four to choose from.

"The Hotel Williams under its new management is serving the public well. Landlord Webber has arranged to serve Sunday dinners and our people should plan to patronize them. A good hotel is a valuable adjunct to the town and our people should lend all the encouragement in their power to make Hotel Williams a success under new management."

The City of Wyoming's website (wyomingia.org) has a new look. You can sign up for alerts on your phone or email. The City will be discontinuing its Facebook page.

Research scientists recently reported that the swimming pool of the Titanic is still full of water.
