A service of the Wyoming Lions Club

We also have the newsletter available on the https://www.wyomingia.org website. Under "Community" you can find the "Wyoming Lions Newsletter" tab.

A big THANK YOU from the Wyoming Lions Club to everyone who helped with the Christmas Lights. On New Years Day a crew of 4 took off the tree lights, then the trees and posts, and then cleared the bridge. Saturday, all the blue boards were taken down and the overhead lights on both ends were removed. This was done by a crew of 6. Sunday a crew of 13 and 2 forklifts finished taking down the spyders and storing all the supplies in just over an hour. Thanks, again.

Thanks also from the Wyoming Historical Museum to whomever made the very generous anonymous yearend donation. We hope that you are a reader of the newsletter and will know that you are appreciated.

Looking Back for January 9, 2026

Midland Times: January 5, 2001 – Page 1

THE CALKINS HOUSE, built in 1860 and listed on the National Register of Historic Places, has been donated to the City of Wyoming for use as a museum. The house was the home of Dr. Martin H. Calkins, first doctor in the Wyoming area. His office is the oldest original doctor's office west of the Mississippi. NOTE: The family also donated furniture that was brought over on the Mayflower as well as medical items used by Dr. Calkins.

NOTES FORM THE WOMAN'S RELIEF CORPS

There will be a dearth of W.R.C. Notes during the absence of our Press Correspondent, Mary Pixley Smith, but the secretary will try to make all announcements till her return.

Tuesday, January 19th will be the regular Thimble Bee Dinner. As January is McKinley month, everybody is asked to watch for some little item concerning the life or death of this martyred president and be kind enough to give it during the social chat directly following dinner.

Let us make the social hour a real McKinley memorial by confining our conversation during that time to things he said and did. No one will be called upon for a speech. All we ask is that during the hour following the dinner the conversation be general and that it be about McKinley.

NOTE: The Woman's Relief Corps is a women's auxiliary group to the Civil War veterans organization, the Grand Army of the Republic. Their activities are charitable and patriotic.

Women who remain single can console themselves with the thought that they were born that way.

DIED.

Cornella O. wife of W. T. Fordham, died at Wyoming, Iowa, on the 1st of January, 1876 in her forty-first year.

The deceased has been for many years, peculiarly and severely affected in the wise but mysterious arrangements of Providence, about ten years ago a cloud settled over her mind. She soon became unable to care for her family, and a great affliction rested upon a happy home.

All was done for her recovery that affection and skill could devise, but of no avail. She lingered along year after year apparently much the same. For some months past she gradually failed in strength and at the opening of the year passed quietly to her rest.

NOTE: According to the Monticello Express, Mrs. Fordham was “the victim of a mild though hopeless form of insanity, the result of intense grief at the loss of a loved child [age 3] and her mother in swift succession.” Mr. Fordham was left with four children to care for. He married a second time on August 28, 1876 and proceeded to have four more children before his death in 1893.

A CIRCULATION LIBRARY – Mr. J. C. Nichols, our popular druggist, is under taking a most laudable work, and one which will be of incalculable benefit to Wyoming, especially to the young folks; it is to establish a circulating library. That such an institution will be a great benefit, none can deny. It will be far better than the old manner, which was for a number to organize, take stock, and be really the owners of the book. With a circulating library, all that will be necessary for one to be entitled to the use of the books, will be to pay a small sum and they will be entitled to the use of any book for one week, which the library will contain. If the proper encouragement and interest be taken in the matter, Mr. Nichols will purchase a hundred volumes, and as the patronage increases, he will continue to add to the number of books. The selection of books will be nothing but standard works, – a good class of reading, by the most popular authors.
